Project

- Automatic rationing system with anti-corruption security service

RFID based automatic rationing system creates transparency in public distribution system, as the work becomes automatic. The present ration distribution has drawbacks like inaccurate quantity of goods, low processing speed, long waiting time, material theft in ration shop. The proposed system replaces manual work in ration shop. Every customer is provided with a RFID card which is registered by the government authority. The ration distribution is done by using a unique user id and OTP. GSM is used for generating the OTP. The code is executed using PIC16F877A microcontroller.
